PERSONALIZED. PRACTICED. PREPARED.

AVIATION TRAINING AT ITS BEST

WHO WE ARE

THIS IS FLIGHTSAFETY INTERNATIONAL

We train you to stay sharp, fine tune, and always be prepared—for whatever the next flight throws at you. Together, we are always striving to be better, always reaching for the top. And when it's pencils down, you will realize that's exactly what you have accomplished. You are smarter, calmer, more confident than yesterday. This kind of training is more than fulfilling a requirement. It is an achievement. And it's reserved for the sky's most elite. Because better isn't enough. You must be the best. FSI. Nothing short of excellence.

WHY TRAIN WITH FSI THE FLIGHTSAFETY DIFFERENCE

The experience gained in our simulators and classrooms empowers aviation professionals with unwavering calmness and composure needed for all situations, from the everyday to the unusual. We raise the bar on training because the resulting confidence and preparation mitigate risk and save lives. This elevated level of consistent, standardized training can only be provided by the best in the industry. One with an incredible reputation earned from 70+ years of incomparable experience—and the unique backing of Berkshire Hathaway.

Here are a few other reasons that make FlightSafety the smartest way to train:

- A world-leading supplier of training products to airlines, and government and military agencies
- Innovative simulator designs informed by seven decades of customer feedback
- Factory-authorized training provider for leading business and regional aircraft manufacturers
- Approved professional training for 130+ current aircraft models and multiple regulatory agencies around the world

FSI CURRICULUM COMPREHENSIVE AND TAILORED

The undisputable value of FSI training is found in the extensive number and range of services, equipment, and locations available. This includes core and advanced master-level courses and instruction tailored to specific needs. For optimal flexibility and accessibility, many courses are also conveniently offered as eLearning and LiveLearning training. This level of diversity in offerings ensures all customers' needs are met.

Whatever your needs—initial, recurrent, advanced or special operations training—take advantage of our global network and easily access the world's best training. Discover a complete list of locations at flightsafety.com/locations.

EXPERT INSTRUCTORS INDIVIDUALIZED DIRECTION

Real-time insights and proven experience inform coaching so that training is flawlessly tailored to the specific needs of our customers. Each of our 1,600+ instructors is committed to each customer's proficiency and success, with every training session representing an opportunity to deliver outstanding and unmatched quality.

CUTTING-EDGE TECHNOLOGY REALITY REPLICATION

At FlightSafety, we use patented methods, immersive technology, and countless training scenarios so customers know exactly what to do when it is real. It is crucial that our programs include the most up-to-date best practices and mirror real-world situations as accurately as possible. Our simulation engineers bring decades of experience in building advanced equipment to our endless list of offerings. These engineers have led the way in technological innovations and custom designs, built specifically to meet our customers' operational requirements. Our highly trained technicians meticulously maintain every single piece of equipment to maximize performance and reliability. For this reason, commercial, government, and military organizations worldwide rely on our full flight simulators for their training programs.
